

Yi Lu

Healthy Aging Lab
Department of Psychology
Cornell University

yl3358@cornell.edu
Personal Website
Linkedin

EDUCATION

- 2025 Ph.D. in Developmental Psychology, Cornell University, Ithaca, NY, US
Committee: Drs. Corinna E. Löckenhoff (chair), Qi Wang, Anthony L. Burrow
- 2023 M.A. in Developmental Psychology, Cornell University, Ithaca, NY, US
Advisor: Dr. Corinna E. Löckenhoff
Master Thesis: Structural Differences in Self-Continuity over the course of the COVID-19 Pandemic
- 2020 B.S. in Psychology & Economics, Peking University, Beijing, China
Advisor: Dr. Xin Zhang
Undergraduate Honor Thesis: A Cross-Cultural Comparison between Chinese and Americans' Self-Continuity

PUBLICATIONS

Journal Articles

- Lu, Y., Gerstorf, D., & Löckenhoff, C. (2023). Age Differences in Self-Continuity in the U.S. and Germany: The role of Temporal Direction, Temporal Distance, and Demographics. The Journals of Gerontology: Series B. doi: 10.1093/geronb/gbado02
- Lu, Y., Chen, C., Yin, X., Xu, Y., & Zhang, X. (2021). Viewing time and facial trustworthiness perception: Give it a second thought may not work for older adults. PsyCh Journal. doi: 10.1002/pchj.469

Book Chapters

- Chang, Y., Lu, Y., & Zhang, X. (2019). Subjective Well-being. In D. Gu and M. E. Dupre (Eds.), The Encyclopedia of Gerontology and Population Aging. Springer-Nature. doi: 10.1007/978-3-319-69892-2_837-1

Work in progress

- Lu, Y., & Löckenhoff, C. (in prep.). Structural Differences in Self-Continuity over the course of the COVID-19 Pandemic.
- Lu, Y., Ghose, U., Gerstorf, D., & Löckenhoff, C. (in prep.). Longitudinal Health-related Precursors of Self-Continuity in the German Socio-Economic Panel Study (SOEP)

PRESENTATIONS AND TALKS

- Lu, Y., & Löckenhoff, C. (Nov. 2023). Age Differences in Social Discounting and Charitable Giving in a U.S. Sample. In J. Nolte (Chair), Aging and Decision-Making: The Roles of Affective and Social Context. Symposium presentation at the 75th Annual Scientific Meeting of the Gerontological Society of America, Tampa, Florida.

- Lu, Y., & Löckenhoff, C. (Nov. 2022). Age Differences in Self-continuity Remain Robust in Response to the Covid-19 Pandemic. Poster presentation at the 74th Annual Scientific Meeting of the Gerontological Society of America, Indianapolis, Indiana.
- Lu, Y., Cong, L., Löckenhoff, C., & Zhang, X. (Nov. 2020). Culture, Age and Self-Continuity: Old Chinese Showed Lower Continuity with Their Past and Future Self than Americans. Poster presentation at the 72nd Annual Scientific Meeting of the Gerontological Society of America (Online).
- Lu, Y., Yin, X., Xu, Y., & Zhang, X. (Nov. 2019). Viewing time and facial trustworthiness perception: Give it a second thought may not work for older adults. In M. J. Lu (Chair), Social engagement in old age: Impacts of aging under interpersonal, moral, and political contexts. Symposium presentation at the 71st Annual Scientific Meeting of the Gerontological Society of America, Austin, Texas.

GRANTS AND AWARDS

- 2024 Esther Stocks, Ethel B. Waring, Harold Feldman, Serby-Gildea, Flemmie Kitttrell, and the Flora Rose Fellowships ($28,823), Cornell University.
- 2023 Translational Research Summer Institute Eckenrode Scholarship ($75), Cornell University.
- 2022 Conference Travel Grant ($400), Cornell University.
- 2020–21 Graduate School Fellowship ($25,097), Cornell University.
- 2018–19 Hui-Chun Chin and Tsung-Dao Lee Chinese Undergraduate Research Grant (¥5,000).
- 2018 Annual Excellent Student Research Award, Chinese Association of Social Psychology
- 2016–20 Shangfei Talented Undergraduate Fellowship (¥16,000).

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

- 2023 Research assistant, Cornell Institute for Translational Research on Aging, Weill Cornell Medicine (PI: Dr. Karl Pillemer)
- 2023 Translational Research Summer Institute, Bronfenbrenner Center for Translational Research, Cornell University
Four-day institute on building partnerships with community organizations, conducting research in real-world settings, and connecting research, practice, and policy
- 2023 U-wide Conference, Center of Teaching Innovation, Cornell University
One-day conference to discuss inclusive teaching strategies across disciplines
- 2023 Teaching seminar, Cornell University
Seven-week seminar on practicing teaching in higher education
- 2023 Library Immersion Program, Olin Library, Cornell University
Winter program on digital research skills, digital privacy, copyright, open access, library research, and archival study
- 2022 Teaching workshops, Center of Teaching Innovation, Cornell University
Workshops on developing teaching portfolio
Online course on teaching & learning in the diverse classroom
- 2018–20 Research assistant, School of Psychological and Cognitive Sciences, Peking University

- Life-span Development Lab (PI: Dr. Xin Zhang)
 - Undergraduate independent research on the impact of aging stereotypes on older people's risky decisions
- 2019 Research assistant, Department of Cognitive, Linguistic & Psychological Sciences, Brown University
 Summer internship in the Perception, Action and Cognition Lab (PI: Dr. Joo-Hyun Song)
 - Designed and conducted action experiments using Sketchup, MATLAB Psychtoolbox, and movement tracking pad
 - Analyzed data on hand movement trajectory and reaction performance using MATLAB.
- 2019 Research assistant, Department of Psychology, Yale University
 Summer internship in the Affective Science and Culture Lab (PI: Dr. Maria Gendron)
 - Conducted natural language meaning analysis using Meaning Extraction Helper and ZhToken
- 2017 Visiting student, Oxford University
 Two-week summer program on courses including Behavioral Economics

TEACHING EXPERIENCE

Note: Teaching assistance involves holding office hours, grading prelims and papers, and maintaining the online platform Canvas as basics.

- 2023 HD 3260 - Human Bonding
 Instructor: Prof. Cindy Hazan, Cornell University
 Teaching Assistant, leading two undergraduate TAs on grading and feedback
- 2022 PSYCH 2800 - Introduction to Social Psychology
 Instructor: Prof. Thomas Gilovich, Cornell University
 Teaching Assistant
- 2022 COGST 1101 - Introduction to Cognitive Science
 Instructor: Adam Broitman, Cornell University
 Teaching Assistant
 Guest Talk on Cognitive Aging: Brain, Attention, and Memory
- 2022 HD 1170 - Human Development: Adolescence and Emerging Adulthood
 Instructor: Prof. Robert Sternberg, Cornell University
 Teaching Assistant
- 2021 HD 1150 - Human Development: Infancy and Childhood
 Instructor: Prof. Karin Sternberg, Cornell University
 Teaching Assistant

SERVICE

- 2023-24 Diversity and International Students Committee, Graduate and Professional Student Assembly, Cornell University
- 2023 Ad Hoc Reviewer, Health & Social Care in the Community
- 2022-24 Graduate Student Committee, Psych. Department, Cornell University

- Organized student activities such as job talks, panels, and town halls; coordinated with the Director of Grad Studies and Grad Field Assistants; assisted in Ph.D. recruitment day and open house; organized the election for new student members on the committee
- 2022-23 Conference Abstract Reviewer, The Gerontological Society of America
Reviewed abstracts of posters and symposiums for the annual conference
- 2022 Undergraduate's Honor Thesis Reviewer, Cornell University
Lauren Mei '22, Thesis title: The Role of Verbatim vs. Gist Formatting on Age-Differences in Information Avoidance
- 2022 Invited speaker on Ph.D. Recruitment Day, Psych. Department, Cornell University
Flash talk on Self-Continuity during the Pandemic
- 2022 Second-year Presentation, Psych. Department, Cornell University
Presentation on Age Differences in Self-Continuity: The role of Temporal Direction, Temporal Distance, and Demographics
- 2021 Invited speaker, School of Psychological and Cognitive Sciences, Peking University Talk on Why you should (or should not) apply for a Ph.D. program
- 2020-23 Part-time tutor for Extended Project Qualification, Beijing
Instructed high school students to conduct their research projects in social science, which are evaluated by the Universities and Colleges Admissions Service of the UK
- 2017-20 Student Psychological Association (PKUPA), Peking University
Student member of PKUPA; attended book clubs and salons; organized and advocated PKUPA events and talks

MEMBERSHIP

The Gerontological Society of America

The American Psychological Association of Graduate Students

Updated June 2023